Where: Science Club, 1136 19th St NW,
Washington DC, 20036

When: Wednesday, December 2
6:30 ~ 8:30 p.m.

Please join us for happy hour in support of the Jean-Pictet Competition, which is the preeminent international humanitarian law moot court competition and training program for students in law schools and military academies from around the world.

The Competition takes place in a different country every year, has approximately 200 participants from 40 countries around the world, and counts among its alumni more than 2,000 legal and humanitarian professionals. The Competition – run by a volunteer Board – relies on the generosity of private donors.

The Competition supports the participation of teams from developing countries that cannot afford the registration and travel costs. Your contributions will go directly towards these expenditures to ensure participation of teams who could not otherwise attend.

For more information, please visit

Minimum donation is $10/person and will buy you 1 drink ticket and includes excellent specials on food and drinks ($3 and $4 beer, $5 wine).
